

Mark van der Merwe is the Business Development Director for BillerudKorsnäs Sack Solutions and has global responsibility for new business development and implementation of new business models. Mark is based in Hamburg, Germany and has, over the years, held various positions in production, marketing and sales. Mark has a passion for innovation, not only in products, but also in processes, applications and business models and is specifically devoted to building a better planet.